Eveline Stuke-Wennemann, Krefeld; unter Mitarbeit von Silvia Altmeier, St. Tönis

II/B2

VORANSTICHT

Black maids and "white Southern ladies" – spannungsreiche Beziehungen vor dem Hintergrund des Civil Rights Movement erörtern.

„The other side of Gone with the Wind – and just as unputdownable“ (Sunday Times)

Der US-Bestseller „The Help“ beleuchtet vornehmlich aus der Sicht von maids, den Nannys der 60er-Jahre, den zu der Zeit vorherrschenden alltäglichen Rassismus in Jackson, Mississippi. Wechselnde Erzählperspektiven sowie ein trotz erlebter Diskriminierung oftmals humorvoller Erzählstil im Roman bieten eine sehr anschauliche Darstellung der Thematik, die entsprechend auch in der Verfilmung ernsthafte wie amüsante Momente enthält, sowie historische Bezüge. Anhand von schülerorientierten, analytischen und kreativen Verfahren schulen die Lernenden ihre kommunikativen Kompetenzen und setzen sich auf vielfältige Weise mit Auszügen des Romans und des Films sowie mit Texten (Reden) zum historischen Hintergrund auseinander.
